

Business Jet Center OAK Celebrates 5th Anniversary

Business Increases at Bay Area FBO

October 6, 2008, Oakland International Airport (OAK), Oakland, CA... Business Jet Center at Oakland International Airport (OAK), NBAA booth #5521, is celebrating their fifth anniversary of FBO operations this month and business is growing. Over the past three years, the Bay Area FBO has recorded a 106% increase in combined Jet A and Avgas gallons pumped while traffic has also increased by more than 200%.

Since beginning operations in 2003, Business Jet Center (BJC) has transformed the OAK landscape, going from a rented modular building to a $4.5 million renovation of the original 1920's Art Deco style terminal. With more than 100,000 sq. ft. of managed hangar, shop and terminal facilities, BJC Oakland will celebrate five years of operations with a variety of activities including games, prize drawings, T-shirt giveaways, a cook out and much more. Visit www.BusinessJetCenter.com for more details.

BJC Oakland has been recognized as a top 15 award winning FBO destination in two national industry surveys. In addition, the facility has received the prestigious ExxonMobil PremierSpirit Gold award as a top 25 national Aviat dealer three years in a row. The facility is managed by Dave Mills who serves as Vice-Chairman of the Exxon/Mobil Aviat Council.
